The next blog post about this new game is up and ready to read. Just go to Dragavan's Den (see the little link by that name over in the menu on the left?) or you can just click here: Second Blog Post
About This

It covers more about character creation and will be followed by one about the general mechanics most likely later this week. This thing just keep growing and I have no control over it. Kind of scary if you think about the subject matter.
